Tap-holders Agree; Will Tap New Sewer

A meeting of a number of persons who hold taps on the Sharp sewer and some of those interested in securing relief for the Presbyterian church, held a meeting Friday night, to discuss ways and means of relieving the present situation due to clogging of the Sharp sewer.

It was agreed that a sewer would be constructed up the middle of Hinde street from the intersection of the new Market street sewer, to the Sharp sewer at the mouth of the alley one-half square from the Market street sewer, and that all persons concerned should pay an equal portion of the cost.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. Sam Cissna, Dr. J. F. Dennis and J. W. Rothrock, was appointed, with full power to employ men and have the sewer constructed at once, so that the Sharp sewer may be drained into the new sewer which remains unfinished.

THIEF STOLE VALUABLE HORSE

WHICH MAY LEAD TO ARREST

While W. E. Reynolds, living on the Plymouth pike some two miles from Plymouth, was asleep Friday night, some one stole his driving mare, secured a set of harness, hitched the mare to the Reynold's buggy and drove away, and up to this time no trace has been found of the outfit, although there seems to be little question as to the identity of the thief, as he left his umbrella behind.

Mr. Reynolds did not miss the outfit until this morning, and then discovered that his black driving mare, vanned at $200 and buggy, harness, robes, etc., had disappeared. He at once notified the police in this city and drove into town to ascertain what steps he should take to find the thief and horse and rig.

The theft is supposed to have occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock as a man driving an animal answering the description of the Reynolds' mare was seen near Selden about 9:30, and Mr. Reynolds cracked the outfit to a point near Selden, where he lost it. The rig was headed for this city.

Mr. Reynolds is almost positive who the thief is, and placed information in the hands of the police which may lead to his capture within the next 24 hours.

The mare is black, weighs 1150, is eight years old, has one white hind foot, and white star in forehead. The rig is a "Troy" top buggy, painted black. The harness is an old one.

The net has been spread to catch the man, and results are expected at any minute. The umbrella in question was left upon a pile of posts in the rear of the barn.

A FAITHFUL DOG TO THE RESCUE

FEROCIOUS SWINE

ATTACKS NORTH OF COUNTY FARMER

Joseph Kidwell, an aged farmer living six miles north of Jeffersonville, received serious injuries one day this week, when a large brood sow attacked him while he was in the act of removing a pig from under the fence.

Mr. Kidwell heard the pig's agonized squealing and went to its rescue, when he was set upon by the sow. He was knocked down and the infuriated sow sunk her sharp teeth into his hand, thigh and calf of his leg, inflicting very deep and painful wounds.

The brute would probably have killed the man had not his faithful dog attacked her and put her to flight.

Same District

Fined For Owning Seines

Deputy State Fish and Game Warden are busy in Fayette county, ferreting out the law breakers and bringing them to justice, and Saturday morning two well known farmers, George Ghormley and N. F. Taylor, were brought to this city upon an affidavit filed by a Deputy Game Warden, and tried before Mayor Allen, where both entered pleas of guilty and received the minimum fine of $50 and the costs, which both paid and were allowed to go, being admonished to never repeat their offenses again.

Both men were arrested for having seines in their possession which were much larger than those allowed by law. They lived near Paint creek in the extreme southern part of Wayne township, and while they might not have used the seines themselves, the mere fact that the large seines were in their possession made them liable to fine, or fine and imprisonment.

This is the first arrest which has taken place in Fayette county for some time for this offense, and it is expected that other arrests will follow. Those who have seines will probably make a hurried effort to destroy them in order to avoid arrest, and it is believed that there are a number of seines which have been used in the county for some time.

Fatal Accident In a Gravel Pit

Another accident in a gravel bank caused the death of Isaiah Morgan, a Highland county farmer, Wednesday, when the rotten bank caved in upon him, crushing him to death before assistance could arrive.

Morgan was loading gravel under the overhanging bank of earth, when the bank caved in upon him. A number of deaths and serious accidents have occurred in gravel banks in this part of Ohio during the past two months, and two accidents, one resulting in serious injuries to a man's back, and another breaking a man's leg, have occurred in this county, and in view of this, more care should be taken it seems to prevent such accidents.

Harve Jacks Captured; Was Quite a Sprinter

Quite a little excitement occurred at the Union Station Saturday morning while the platform was crowded with people waiting on the train, when Harve Jacks, wanted on a paternity charge tried to make his escape from Chief of Police Devaney, but was loaded down with a quart of Parker's Bainbridge whiskey, and was soon overhauled by the chief, but not before a nice little chase had afforded entertainment for the crowd.

Jacks was pointed out to the chief by a brother of the girl whom Jacks had wronged, and no sooner did he see that he was wanted than he took to his heels, running through the crowd and turning down the D. T. & I. railroad with the chief in hot pursuit, and gaining at every jump.

So hard did he run that both only touched the high places, but he was soon overhauled and placed in the county jail.

Jacks is the man whom Chas. Jackson tried to arrest near Johnson's Crossing some two years ago, but he took to his heels and made his escape at that time, followed by a few bullets from Jackson's revolver.

The police have been looking for him since that time, but he has been keeping out of their road.

Later in the day the sheriff of Greene county came to this city in an automobile and took Jacks to Xenia, where he must face a paternity charge filed by a woman of that place over two years ago.

Jacks went with the sheriff, offering no protest.

Youthful Thieves Steal Automobile

Automobile thieves are not very plentiful, but a pair of them—boys of nine years of age, were placed under arrest in this city Friday charged with stealing an automobile from the premises of Mr. Al Bonecutter, the auto in question being a baby auto propelled by foot power, to which the boys had taken a fancy, and stole it.

The lads, Guy Hoskins and Carl Manns, were suspected of the deal, having been seen about the premises, and the police were notified. An investigation was made and the little auto was found, but the rubber tires had been cut off and the machine so changed that it was hardly recognizable, and was later consigned to the scrap heap.

Both boys confessed that they had stolen the little auto, and were given a severe reprimand by the mayor, and upon their promise to never steal another article, and to be good boys, they were turned loose.

Later in the day the sheriff of Greene county came to this city in an automobile and took Jacks to Xenia, where he must face a paternity charge filed by a woman of that place over two years ago.

Jacks went with the sheriff, offering no protest.

WAR IN EUROPE.

For the first time in over forty years two nations of western Europe are at war and the outcome, not so much of the particular conflict now on between Italy and Turkey, of the conflict which may involve other nations, is awaited with anxiety by other nations of the earth.

War clouds are not unusual in Europe, in fact the "Peace of Europe" has been threatened several times each year during the long period of peace.

The nations are small in territorial extent, population dense and more room is coveted by almost every nation of western Europe.

Revolutions have occurred during the forty years' peace, but actual war between two of the nations has not.

England, France, Germany, Spain, Russia, Austria and Italy have been at war away from home, brought on chiefly by reason of the scramble for more territory in Africa and Asia.

The nations of Europe are exceedingly jealous and watchful of each other and are bound together and held apart by offensive and defensive alliances with each other.

Those of the older generations who have passed through European wars the last of which was the Franco-Prussian war, have dreaded a conflict between two of these nations because of the complications which would involve other nations.

Owing to the various alliances and cross alliances, it is almost impossible to predict to what limits a war between two European nations, once started, would go.

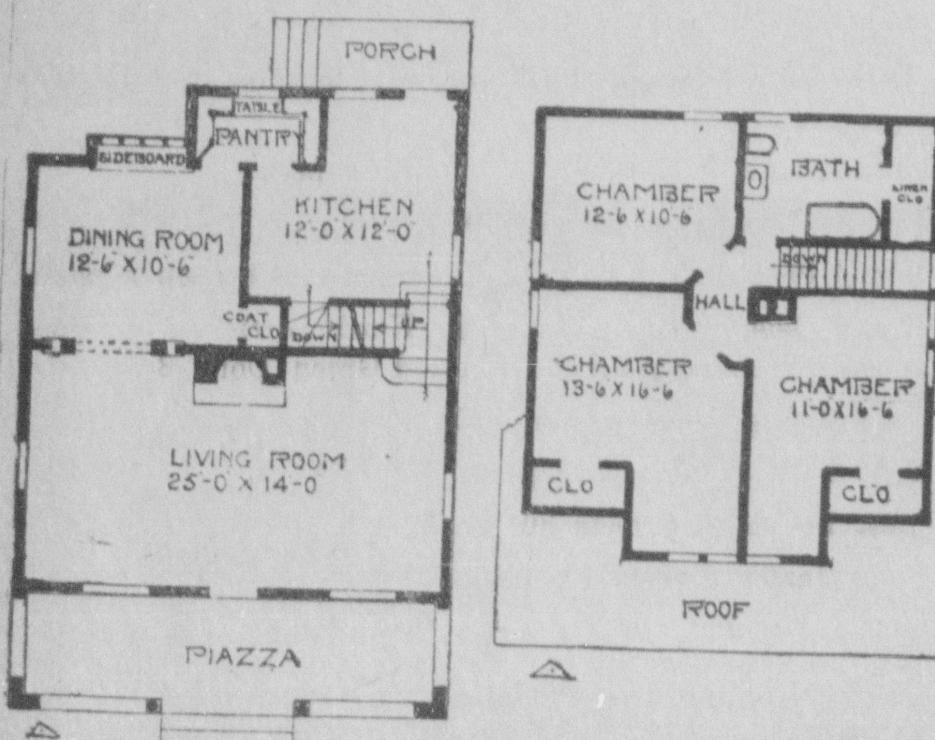

That question will, in all probability, be solved now and the world may witness the awful spectacle of a general war between the nations of Europe ere either Turkey or Italy runs up the white flag.

with his journey into the insurgents' country and will not return until he goes through on his way back to Washington the latter part of October. He ended his speechmaking here, as he began it, discussing the tariff. He had an audience of 3,000, and he impressed upon them again his desire for their support next winter when he recommends a tariff revision in accordance with the demands of their state Republican platform, and gained the crowd's applause with his earnest promise to do all that he had been pledged to do with respect to the tariff. He told them that he expected as president to be criticised by the press and by politicians, but that he felt certain the common sense of the people would go behind such censure and judge the situation on the facts. Support from the Republicans of Iowa, if he conforms next winter with the dictates of their platform, is the plea that the president has sounded in every address which he has made on the tariff in this state, and it seems to have taken well with his audiences.

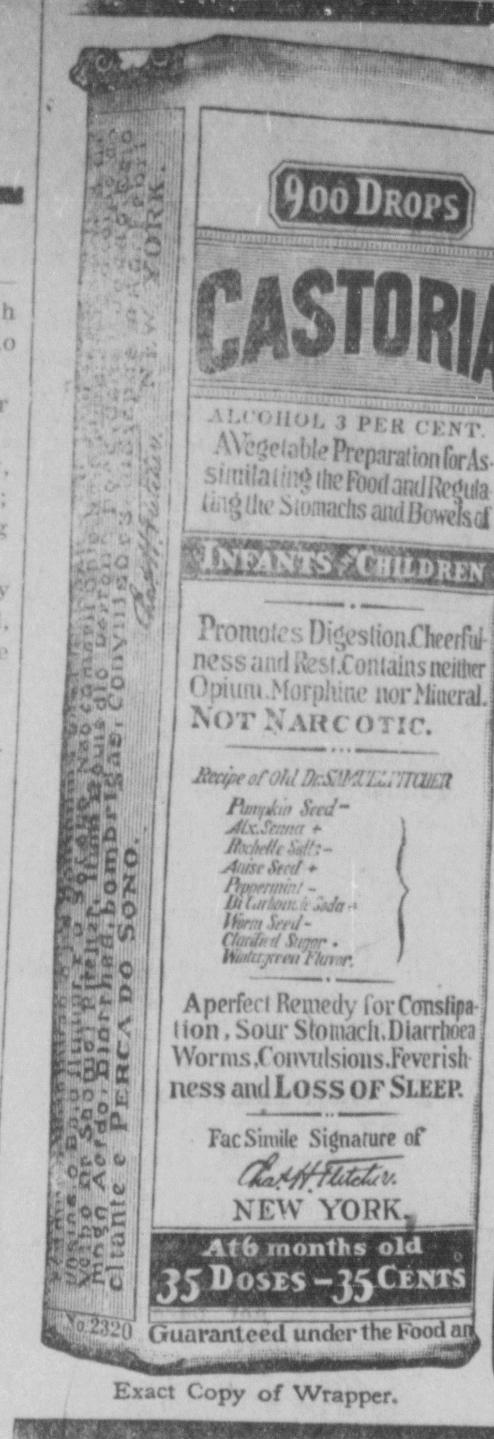

Wins Senator Cummins.

The president gained Senator Cummins, who has consistently opposed him in nearly every policy, to the support of his arbitration treaties. The insurgent senator's capitulation followed upon the heels of a peace speech which the president made at Des Moines before an audience of 4,000 people. The applause of the crowd was emphatic, and at the conclusion of the address Senator Cummins, who for the first and only time during the president's visit here was upon the platform, began to discuss the treaties with Mr. Taft as he was leaving the hall. The senator suggested that the clause providing for the personnel of the joint high commission which is to decide what questions are to be arbitrated should be more definite than in the text of the treaties. It is now provided that three nationals of each country involved should be appointed upon this commission, or otherwise if agreed to between the nations. It was the otherwise that the senator said bothered him. He thought the proviso should be eliminated.

"Well," said the president, "do that; make it necessary for the senate to confirm these appointments."

And the senator then indicated his approval of the pact in that revised form.

When the Taft special arrived at Des Moines, Senator Cummins was standing at the head of the reception committee to greet him. Beside him stood "Lafe" Young, former senator, who is a thirty-third degree stand-patter and a candidate for the senate against Cummins' candidate, Senator Kenyon. The two stuck together the whole time that the president was in Des Moines. They rode side by side in an automobile and it was nip and tuck to tell which one was being applauded by the crowds.

Q.—In Deuteronomy iv, 26, we read that Moses directed that the Israelites should use their money to buy wine or strong drink. Does this mean that they were commanded to use intoxicating liquors?

Answer.—The preceding verses of this chapter disclose that this was a Divine command through Moses; that at certain times the Israelites should eat before the Lord at the place He should choose. Evidently the place designated required some to travel a long distance, bearing their food for the feast with them. The Lord commanded, "if the way be too long for thee so that thou art not able to carry it, etc., thou shalt turn it into money." After a long journey the people would be much worn, sick and exhausted and might require some wine or some strong drink to revive them. The words "lusteth" and "desireth," in the text, are properly rendered, "To long for," and "demand." Their system might demand some stimulants as medicine.

May Bring Suit Result of Accident

Mr. Starling Lohr and Attorney H. H. Sanderson were in Jamestown this week where they visited the scene of the auto accident in which Mr. Lohr was severely injured, together with a number of others who were in the machine when it was wrecked while attempting to pass a rig which it is said was monopolizing more than his share of the road.

It is Mr. Lohr's intention to bring suit against Elmer McCall, who was driving the carriage the auto struck.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY

CONVENTION.

The District Convention of Foreign Missionary Society of Methodist church will be held at Bainbridge, Thursday, October 5th. The delegates from Grace church are Mesdames Alice Adams and Emily Baldwin with alternates, Miss Augusta Adams and Mrs. D. A. Ferree. It is desired that the members of our auxiliary be well represented at this meeting, where they may gain new impetus for this most worthy work.

EMILY BALDWIN, Secy.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Drinking Buttermilk. Some people go so far as to say that there is no case of indigestion that cannot be cured by plain buttermilk. At any rate it is a hearty food, and two glasses a day are enough for any one. It is said to take over-an hour for it to digest thoroughly, and if more food is put into the stomach before it has digested what is already there, with a little time besides first, more harm is done than good. So the best time to drink buttermilk is with the meals, and its mild acid acts beneficially on all the juices of the stomach.

Lightning Stroke Fatal.
Alliance, O., Sept. 30.—During an electrical storm Roy Heestand, 28, employed on Henry Haynam's farm at Minerva, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Back Broken In Mine.
Zanesville, O., Sept. 30.—Raymond Spencer, 27, was caught under a fall of coal in the Zanesville Coal company's mine No. 2 and his back was broken.

Old Case Revived

Woman Arrested For Alleged Poisoning of Two Stepchildren.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Six years after her two stepchildren, Herbert and Walter, had died from what was then diagnosed as ptomaine poisoning Mrs. Dora M. Thumm, wife of John Thumm, a merchant, is under arrest charged with the murder.

In 1905 her three children became suddenly ill and two died during the night. Rome, now a young man, recovered, and upon his testimony will likely rest the conviction of his stepmother. It is said, according to detectives, that the mother gave each of the children a cup of coffee and insisted upon them drinking it. Rome claims that his brothers drank theirs but he only took a portion of his. The bodies will be exhumed.

Five Killed By Carbineers

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—The riots at Lan-

ghisho are more grave than was at first thought. It is reported that the mob cut the telegraph and telephone wires and uprooted the poles. They also barricaded the railroad tracks in an endeavor to cut off all communication. A few carbineers were stoned and when they saw that they were on the point of being overcome the carbineers fired on the mob, killing five and wounding 12. The rest retreated in panic.

Lisbon, O., Sept. 30.—Margaret Holliday, the 17-year-old girl in Lisbon's "nude art" scandal, and her mother Mrs. Emma Holliday, appeared before the grand jury at Lisbon in an effort to indict Lemuel C. Johnson, a Lisbon photographer, who is alleged to have taken the photograph. The picture was exhibited to the grand jurors. Johnson, who is coaching the Hiram college football team, was not present.

Archbishop Prostrated.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—Archbishop Farley of New York, who is in Cincinnati attending the Eucharistic congress, was taken ill and removed to the residence of Archbishop Moeller. It was stated that Archbishop Farley's illness was the result of the strain of traveling from New York.

Ohio Scion Seriously Ill.

Mansfield, O., Sept. 30.—Louis S. Kuebler, state representative from Richland county, is critically ill at his home here. His son, H. S. Kuebler, who is employed in the office of the state tax commission, was notified that his father was not expected to live.

Order Banker's Arrest.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of T. F. McClure, president of the closed Metropolitan Bank and Trust company. Herman Benzon in the warrant charges that McClure received a deposit knowing that the bank was insolvent.

Prominent Columbus Man Killed.
Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—W. T. Wells, president of the Columbus Pharmacal company, prominent in business circles and chairman of the Republican campaign committee, was run down and instantly killed by a car on North Fourth street.

SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss.:

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my friends and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers, but as I grew older it commenced to come out. When my hair was quite thin and gray, I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to try a bottle; and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found my hair was fast coming back to its natural condition. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur until my hair was as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I began using Sage and Sulphur and my hair is in splendid condition.

BY A. H. PRINE.

It's all over but the shouting, or it will be when the hustling of today has been finished.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Memorial Hall will occur the close of the most successful subscription campaign ever inaugurated in this section of Ohio.

The magnitude of this contest is even greater than was expected or hoped for at the beginning of the contest.

The hustling abilities of the various candidates is marvelous and yet truly AMERICAN? The general public and the friends of the candidates themselves are invited to be present to witness the final count of the men who will act and determine any questions which may arise.

If the candidates will follow the directions given each day no trouble should be experienced at the close and no criticism should follow as a result.

There is yet ample time for the public to help their favorite candidate, and some tall hustling is looked for during the next few hours. SUBSCRIBERS should give some worthy candidate their support before 8 o'clock tonight, don't let it go thinking that your subscription will not make any particular difference, for it may be just one single subscription that your favorite candidate might need to put her in possession of the Player Piano. YOUR subscription will fill the bill. If you haven't done your duty to your favorite DO IT NOW right now, before it is too late.

THE JUDGES.

The final count will be made by the following committee of unimpeachable public men, who will take charge of the contest at 8 o'clock. Standard time, tomorrow night. County Auditor A. E. Henkle, Hon. J. Madison Willis, of The Fayette Co. Hardware Co. and Mr. Roy T. McClure, Cashier P. and D. Bank. Every candidate can feel perfectly sure of getting a fair and square count of her votes.

New Agent Coming Change at B. & O.

Another change will be made at the B. & O. Railway office in this city Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, when Mr. G. E. Wharff, present B. & O. agent at this point, will be transferred to Chillicothe to again resume his duties as division agent, and Mr. R. R. Kibler, agent at Greenfield, will take his place here.

During his several months in this city, Mr. Wharff has made many friends, who are reluctant to see him leave this point, but extend their best wishes for future success.

Mr. Kibler has been with the B. & O. for many years, and is one of the most efficient agents on the road, although he has never before held down a position in a city as large as Washington.

Monroe Markly, a powerful speaker and peerless entertainer is indorsed by the world's famous juvenile judge, Ben Lindsey, of Denver, as one of the ablest men on the platform. Hear him in the Washington Lecture Course. Get tickets NOW.

Detective Kennedy Threatened by Thugs

Thursday morning while B. & O. Detective, Raphael Kennedy, was in Greenfield, he put three hoboes off a freight train, and the "boes" went up the track a short distance and sent word to the plucky detective that if he would show his face at the point where they awaited him, they would beat the life out of him.

This was too much for Kennedy, who never has been "bluffed" by a "bo" so he started up the track to the place where the three rascals awaited him. When the detective made his appearance the three fellows did not wait until he approached nearer, but turned and ran as fast as their feet could carry them.

Kennedy turned on full speed and gave chase, running the men out of the town and was gaining upon them when they struck a cross road, one going north, another south, and one seeking shelter in a nearby cornfield and ending the chase.

World's Temperance Sunday is Nov. 12

Messages from President Taft, General Fred Grant and others, urging the practice of total abstinence, will be read in the Sunday schools.

"Sunshine and Awkwardness" and "A Sample Case of Humor," by Strickland W. Gillilan, will make one forget his troubles. Gillilan is one of the world's leading humorists and the author of the side splitting "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnigan." Ask for a season ticket while it is possible to secure one.

to the flames.

Mr. Perry thinks a blazing coal probably fell out of the stove onto the clothing and started the fire.

But for the fact that Mr. Perry's attention was attracted by the odor of the fire and his investigation and prompt work it is likely that the house and possibly others, owing to insufficient fire protection, and the great distance from the fire department house, would have fallen victim

Hundreds Attend Opening Of New Store

The opening of the H. T. Wilkin & Co. new store for men, attracted a large number of visitors today and elicited many expressions of admiration.

The new store is a little gem, one of the finest and most up-to-date of its size in the state. The front is thoroughly metropolitan, heavy beveled plate glass, surmounted by prisms set in brass and the dome windows of rich art glass. Vases of gracefully nodding carnations in the windows added artistic embellishment for the opening.

Entering through a tiled vestibule, visitors were delighted with the smart interior appearance of the store.

The furnishings are of the early English, handsome cases and counters exceptionally elegant in their plainness and dark finish. The front cases are of heavy beveled glass and a very striking part of the furnishings is a mirror alcove, with brilliant illumination of electric lights.

The nobbiest new fall styles in stocks of men's furnishings and clothing find the new store room a most effective back ground for their showing.

The room is especially beautiful when flooded with electric lights.

Well wishers of the new firm had sent their congratulations in flowers, and a very elaborate floral horse shoe had been sent from Cincinnati by Mr. Max Koch.

Throughout the entire day people from town and country came and went and were given courteous greeting and a fragrant carnation as a souvenir.

Mr. Jess Feagins has accepted a position in the new store.

Report Is Denied; No New Ticket Named

An investigation resulted in the report being denied by Mayor Allen, who said he had not heard a word of any such action, and by others whom Mr. Curbstone said were interested in the new ticket.

So far as could be ascertained no action whatever has been taken toward placing an independent ticket in the field, other than mere talk.

The report this morning was traced down to one who has established quite a reputation as a campaign wag or joker.

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, Sept. 29, 1911.

The Giants or the Athletics? Which? Followers of base ball may now make their choice of favorites in the coming battle for the world's championship, as it is certain, beyond a shadow of doubt, that the New Yorks, of the National League, and the Philadelphias, of the American League, will be the contenders for the highest base ball honor in the land. The games will begin on Friday, October 13, and continue alternately in Philadelphia and New York until one team has won four games. Experts now are busy doping the respective merits of the two teams and are arriving at the conclusion that the fight for the title will be more exciting than it was last year, when the Athletics won by taking four out of five games from the Cubs. It will be recalled that the Giants and the Athletics fought for the world's championship in 1905 the Giants winning four out of five games in that series. Those who saw the Giants play through that season who have followed them this year declare that the team of 1905 was, if anything, stronger than that of this year. The Athletics, on the other hand, are a much improved team over the 1905 aggregation. It remains to be seen, therefore, whether the Giants have gone back so far and the Athletics advanced sufficiently to allow the world's championship to go to Philadelphia again. The largest crowds that ever saw out-door sports are expected to attend the games.

Despite the lateness of the season and the fact that they are firmly settled in sixth place, the Reds still are offering much good sport to a large number of enthusiasts these days. Last Sunday more than 10,000 fans were out to see them trim the Giants, and it is expected that an almost equally large concourse of followers of the game will welcome the Bostonians next Sunday. Not only are the Beaniacs entitled to a goodly patronage because of the improved work they are doing on the green, but the Reds are offering added attractions in the way of new players with whom the fans have not yet become fully acquainted. Manager Griffith promises to use one of his new pitchers in the game next Sunday, choosing from among Benton, Boyd and Compton for the job of hurling against the Beans. All three of these boys have shown big league form in their tryouts, and will give a good account of themselves whenever called upon to perform. The Reds' pitching staff looks extremely promising for next season, by the way. With such reliable men as Smith, Keefe, Suggs, Gaspar, and Humphries as a nucleus, and some ten or twelve others coming in, the team seems better fortified in the box than ever it has been. There are eighteen pitchers in all reserved for next season, besides four catchers, five out-fielders and eight infielders, a total of 35 players.

Sunday, October 8, will see a grand wind-up of the local season so far as Sabbath day games are concerned. Not only will there be a hotly contested game between the Reds and the Cardinals, but there also will be offered a series of eight field events and Philadelphia fought it out almost to the wire with the Sox and Naps hanging on until near the finish.

There has been nothing like the intense excitement raised and maintained in 1908, when a presidential campaign was compelled to take a side street, while the boulevards were monopolized by an unparalleled spectacle—that of four teams racing almost neck and neck for the wire and the verdict hanging on the result of the final game of the schedule between Detroit and Chicago.

This year's race has been a two team affair, Philadelphia and Detroit monopolizing the gladness of the whole season.

The Tigers started the season on a gallop and at the end of April held a big lead of twelve games won and two lost, while the Athletics were in the second division.

During May the Tigers still held the big lead, and many experts predicted they would walk away with the gonfalon. But the more conservative thought that a lead was a handicap to Jennings' men, which later results proved to be true.

The early part of June, when the Tigers held a big lead over the Athletics of twelve games, Mack's chances looked slim. Such a feeling was well justified. With such an enormous advantage it looked as if the Tigers could nurse their lead at no great strain on the players. They had enough of a lead to sustain a stump and get back on a winning streak again.

When the Athletics went on their first trip west they disappointed their followers. They didn't show anything until the trip was almost over. Detroit was the third city in the west where they called.

With the season more than half finished, the Athletics' chances looked worse than ever, but the Mack wrecking crew saved things. The team was soon back fighting again, and the lead worked gradually but steadily below the five and one-half mark.

The Athletics returned home July 25 to fight the western teams. They struck the westerners quick and hard.

First it was Cleveland and then Detroit that were made dizzy by the monarch's speed. Neither was St. Louis nor Chicago spared.

On Aug. 4 the Athletics for the second time this season had fought their way to first place, the difference being that this time they held it.

During September their lead increased steadily, and they entered the last week of the race practically eased up.

In all but one department the Athletics are a better ball club now than they were a year ago. The outfield, while it is not a wonderful toy by a long shot, is a shade more reliable than that which bumped the Cubs last year.

How the Philadelphia Athletics

Won the American League Pennant.

By TOMMY CLARK.

ALTHOUGH the American league season of 1911 was not altogether devoid of sectional and individual disappointments, there was probably not an owner or official in the junior organization who did not feel that the 1911 campaign was as prosperous and as successful as any of the previous years.

Of course there have been no such monetary rewards reaped as those of the years in which the American league races were phenomenally close. There has been nothing like the sustained interest of 1906, for instance, when the White Sox nosed out New York in the last week of the season, nor like that of 1907, when Detroit fielders in the big leagues that rate higher than Lord, Oldring and Murphy, but Mack's strength always has been in his infields.

There is no quartet in the game today that combines with baseball such intelligence as that of McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker. The four are wonderfully fast and accurate fielders and possess great throwing arms. The infield was fast in 1910, but it is speedier this season. Last year Harry Davis was on first, but last July he was replaced by McInnis. For all his improvement over Davis, "Stuffy" looks the equal of any first baseman in the American league, barring Hal Chase. First station last year this lead, and on July 4 the champions of the world came to their own again by assuming first place in the American league race after it had been held by Detroit since the opening of the season.

The Mackmen didn't have the honor very long. The very next day they teetered out again, and Detroit was back. They went west again and struck a calamity in Detroit, which swept four straight games from their ancient enemy. Therefore in a little more than a week after Independence day Detroit had gained first place and was leading the Athletics by five and one-half games.
